

Fred McMillin, a veteran wine writer, has taught wine history for 30 years on three continents. For information about the wine courses he teaches every month at either San Francisco State University or San Francisco City College (Fort Mason Division), please fax him at (415) 567-4468.

Wine Report from the Fort by Fred McMillin, January 2006

A Term of Endearment P.S. I Love You (PSILY)

What's this have to do with wine? Well, P.S. stands for the red wine varietal Petite Sirah, and 269 California producers... [are being tracked by] the burgeoning PSILY organization. For details, contact founder Ms. Jo Diaz at (707) 520-0788.

Postscript: Northside copy chief Max Millard (who also teaches cooking) recently tasted a number of wines from my classes. He reports that the best by far was the Bogle Winery's ... PETITE SIRAH!
